

SCHOOL IN CONSTANT TRANSFORMATION

We understand that accompanying our families along their children's schooling is a serious, loving and committed task. Therefore, we seek to offer a quality and innovative project that is permanently updated to provide our students with a highly satisfactory schooling experience in contexts that are continuously changing. For this reason, we work hand in hand with prestigious specialists and with well-known institutions that allow us to build a school in constant transformation.

ACADEMIC PLAN

Our Early Years educational project provides quality education within a warm environment. As a community school every student and their family finds room for full development in a rich and stimulating environment, carefully devised to nurture our children's singularity. We are particularly interested in fostering creativity and reflective capacity, guiding our children in problem solving in challenging environments and developing empathy towards diversity.

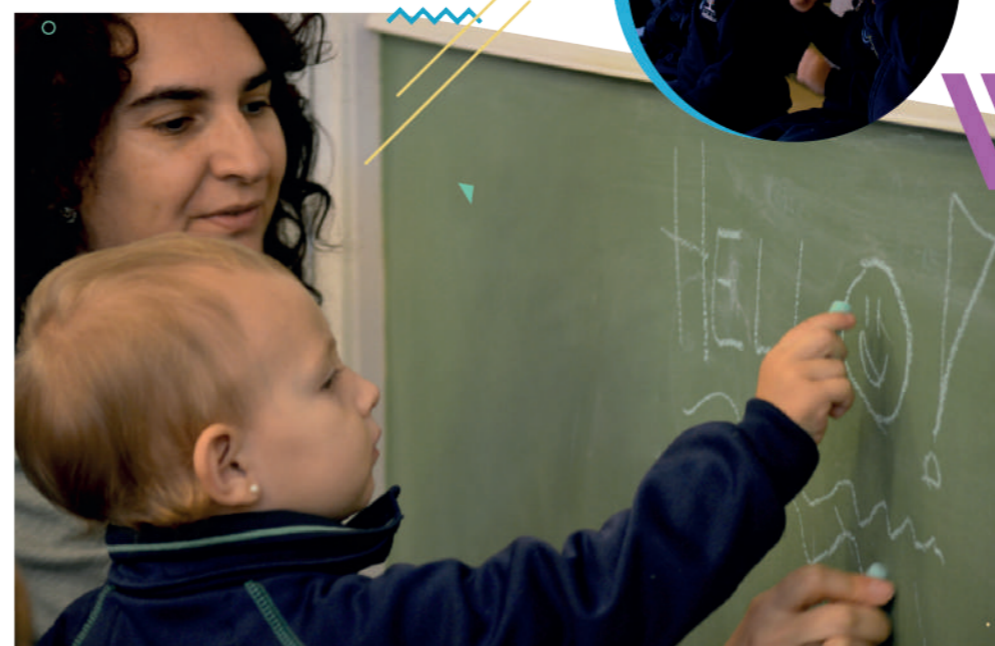

PROCESS OF ADAPTATION

A smooth and easy process of adaptation paves the way for the integral development of the child and prepares them for a healthy educational experience. This is the result of creating strong bonds of affection and trust, and supporting each child to develop and thrive to the best of their individual needs and interests at this stage. Cooperation between parents and teachers is a fundamental part in this process.

EXCELLENCE AND SINGULARITY

There are two teachers in each of our classes that work together as pedagogical peers and interact to ensure a detailed follow-up of each of their students focusing on their singularity. At Arlene Fern we celebrate diversity and this allows our students to value heterogeneity, thus generating a special sensibility as from early ages. We foster empathy, collaboration, respect and mutual help from the very first steps.

ENGLISH IN ACTION

Learning through play is an essential aspect of our English lessons. As from 12 months old, our students interact with the language with a qualified teacher through games, stories and songs. The immersion in the language increases as our students continue their academic programme in the school.

MULTIPLE LITERACIES

At Arlene Fern we teach our students multiple languages to enhance the development of a wide and deep understanding of the world that surrounds them. For this reason we offer different instances to explore playtime, research projects, music, literature and art. Besides, we offer carefully thought-out opportunities to use different resources and electronic devices to develop fine motor skills and digital literacy from very early ages.

DOUBLE SHIFT

We offer the option of full-time attendance so that the children can stay at school until 4.30 pm in a teacher led classroom with projects and activities according to the students' age.
